Dear authors,

as you have seen, both reviewers have several severe points of critic regarding your manuscript. I therefore discourage the submission of a revised version, because the chances that a revised version can be accepted are low.

You may try another journal, or rework the whole manuscript, taking the reviews into account and re-submit the manuscript as a new submission at a later stage.

Best regards,

Johannes Schneider