Author comment on "On the economic impact of droughts in central Europe: the decade from 1531 to 1540 from the Polish perspective" by Tomasz Związek et al., Clim. Past Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/cp-2021-157-AC2>, 2022

Reviewer #2's comments are valuable and will be taken full advantage of when improving the article. We realize that paragraph 2.2 is long, but this is due to the specificity of the sources that needed to be discussed. We wanted the issue of droughts to be analyzed as much as a possible comprehensive way. We wanted to use for this purpose all possible materials whose common denominator was the treasury apparatus of the state.

Regarding the question about mills in Dobrzyń area. We also wondered about political or social issues, but could not find any reasonable explanation. This question will require further (more detailed) settlement and economic research on the area. Also, ownership issues should be addressed, but this is a task for a fully historical article.
