I would like to thank Dr Carbonari for his detailed edits and comments. I agree that including more papers discussing the total amount of slip and slip rates in the studied area would provide additional insights into the manuscript's main focus—interpretation bias. Unfortunately, to the best of my knowledge, no other studies have published seismic images in the Central Himalaya.

The references pointed out to me for inclusion are valuable suggestions, and I will add them and modify the title, the main text, and the figure accordingly.