This dataset with nearly three-decade records provides an invaluable scientific basis, which can enhance our understandings of soil conservation and contribute to the guiding opinions for land and resources management.

Besides, I am wondering whether an updated datasets with higher spatial resolution can be processed and released in future?

Thank you.