Reply on CC1

Jialei Li

Thank you for your comments. The resolution of this data is determined after a trade-off between data precision and the feasibility of computation. In the future, it is possible to update data precision based on the latest released data, which may be 100 m resolution.